The teachers of Mt. Zion desire to thank Mr. J. J. Obear for the kindness in placing his soda fountain at the service of the school for the benefit of the library. Quite a nice sum was realized. WHO HAS IT?

Some time ago the plat of the town was taken from the frame in the town hall. The party who got it will please return it the town council.

Jas. E. Coan, Intendant. COMMUNION MEETING AT SALEM.

Rev. M. R. Kirkpatrick will couduct services at Salem Church the third Saturday and Sunday in Maytwo services on Saturday. He wishes to meet the whole congregation on that day. The elders and deacons will please meet him at 10.30 a. m. at the church.

LEAVE THE "FICES"

Mr. Editor: We have heard so many favorable comments on the improved appearance of our streets since our citizens have been required to keep their dogs at home, that we would suggest the propriety of council instructing the police to attend to their arduous duties unattended by their Observer. By allowing the accumulations in the bowels to remain, the entire system is poisoned. DeWitt's Little Early Risers regulate the bowels. Try them and you will always use them. McMaster Co.

MRS. D. G. ROBERTSON DEAD.

Mrs. D. G. Robertson died at her home in Longtown on Monday. Her remains were taken to Columbia for burial. Mrs. Robertson had not been in good health for several years. Mrs. Robertson was a daughter of Col. S. E. Rembert, of Sumter County. She leaves surviving her her husband, who is now in very feeble health, and her daughter, Mrs. Chas. P. Wray, of Ridgeway.

COMMITTEE OF POTATO BUGS

A prominent young lawyer expressed surprise upon seeing a pestiferous potato bug promenading main street a few days ago. That's nothing. About the bold little cusses could be seen, on the streets almost any day, going from store to store getting the names of all purchasers of seed Irish potatoe .- Lancaster Review.

Possibly it is the Lancaster bug that is in Winnsboro now, if it was about a month ago he appeared on the streets there. The town council might pass an ordinance requiring the police to arrest them.

REV T W MELLICHAMP DEAD

Rev. T. W. Mellichamp died while on a visit to Kev. E. A. McDowell, near Alston, on Saturday. Mr. Mellichamp was born in Charleston in 1817, and had been a Baptist minister for nearly sixty years. His ancestors were French Huguenots. For a number of years he was pastor of the Baptist Church at this place. A good and pious man, his long life has been s most useful one.

His remains were taken to Ridgeway on Sunday for burial. The ancients believed that rheuma-

Cotton is coming up ricely since the recent rain; the acreage is somewhat smaller than last year. Small grain is not doing so well; baven't had sufficient rain for it. Gardens are looking nicely: plenty of turnips, lettuce, radishes, onions, etc., ready for table use.

The fruit crop will be smaller than we expected. We noticed that most of it has already fallen off the trees; especially is this the case with cherries and plums. We suppose that we will have to fall back on the old stand-bythe blackberry-this year. Messrs. J. D. Harrison, Wm. Simpson, A. F. Peay, R. A. Hudson and
